The double team of the tally-ho had crossed the track and had the front wheels of the coach upon the rails when the pilot of the engine was seen by the driver. He gave the horses a cut with the whip, but it was too late, and a moment later the crash came.

PLAYS A BOLD GAME TO GET STATEMENT

GERMANY TRYING TO FORCE RUSSIA'S HAND.

Diplomats Have Set Themselves to the Task of Making the Czar Declare For or Against Turkey—Important Developments Expected Soon—Government Issues a Denial.

London, June 1.—The correspondent of the Standard at Constantinople says that the prevalent opinion there is that Germany is playing a bold game in order to force Russia to declare openly either for or against Turkey.

According to a dispatch to the Daily News from Odessa there is a revival of the report that Russia is negotiating with Turkey to get a port in the Mediterranean. It is also rumored that when peace between Greece and Turkey is concluded Russia will demand the exclusive privilege of free passage for her fleet through the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles.

The correspondent of the Standard at Athens says: "The Greeks are greatly encouraged by the rumor that a navy contractor named Kolla has received an order to provision the British fleet of forty men-of-war, to be concentrated at Phalerum."

The Athens correspondent of the Times, in a dispatch dated Sunday, urges the powers to make a speedy and firm statement as to the Cretan difficulty and to insist upon Turkish evacuation, after which, he says, the Cretan chiefs will be willing to accept autonomy. If, on the contrary, Turkey is allowed to send more troops to Crete, there will be a renewal of the horrors of 1866-1868.

Constantinople, May 31.—An irade has been issued and communicated to the representatives of the powers by which the sultan agrees to an armistice of a fortnight, beginning May 20 (May 30). Fresh instructions consequently will be sent to Edhem Pasha, the Turkish commander in Thessaly. The ambassadors are urging the Turkish government to engage to prolong the armistice in the event of the peace negotiations not being ended when the armistice expires.

The Greek government has issued a denial of the report that an anti-dynastic movement is on foot and it also denies the existence of dissensions between King George and the government of Greece.

A REPUBLICAN LEAGUE CALL

President Woo Announces the Convention at Cincinnati, Ohio, June 1.—President D. D. Woodmansee and Secretary M. J. Dowling have issued a call for the tenth annual convention of the National Republican League at Detroit July 13.

Each state and territorial league is entitled to four delegates from each congressional district and six delegates at large. The business of the convention includes reports from retiring officers, the election of officers, the designation of the time and place for the next national convention, consideration of amendments to the constitution and a discussion of plans for club work and organization. There will be a night mass-meeting, addressed by Republican leaders on national affairs. This is the anniversary of the formation of the league, and it will be celebrated by a reception in honor of the ex-president of the league, all of whom will be in attendance. The call says:

"We cannot overestimate the importance of this convention to the Republican party. Our victory of last year does not guarantee permanency of power. We must keep our organization well equipped for the contest of 1898, when we will again vote for members of congress. In many of our state elections this year the terms of members of the United States senate are at stake, and, as our majority in that body can hardly be seen by the close observer, it behooves us to fortify ourselves against the enemy. Let us come together in large numbers at Detroit for the purpose of reviving and enlarging our political enthusiasm, so that we may return to our homes better qualified to defend our Republican principles and better able to carry out the purposes of the league."

Miners Return to Work.

Spring Valley, Ill., June 1.—Fully 500 miners went to work Monday morning after a series of meetings never before equaled in interest in mining history in this county. REDS OUT IN PAINT KILLING WHITE MEN

CHEYENNE INDIANS ON THE WARPATH.

Four or Five Hundred Braves Threaten To Make Serious Trouble Near the Lemhi Agency—Troops Have Been Ordered to the Scene, From Fort Keogh.

Helena, Mont., June 1.—The Cheyenne Indians have gone on the warpath and are said to have killed twelve men, including five United States soldiers. The white settlers are up in arms and the women and children are being sent into the northern towns for safety. The Cheyennes make the Lemhi agency their headquarters. However, a sheep herder, was recently shot while Indian sheep, and it was proved that Indians did it. He was killed because he caught several Indians killing sheep. This so incensed the stockmen that they have armed themselves and will fight to protect their homes, help and stock.

Two companies of colored cavalry from Custer were ordered to the agency Wednesday, and Saturday a courier arrived from the agency with information that George Walters, the postmaster, and Lou Alderson, a stockman, had been shot and killed; also that the Indians had shot into the cavalry and killed five and had sixty armed cowboys surrounded. The cavalry from Fort Keogh and Company E of the infantry left Saturday for the scene.

There are certainly grounds for fear. The Cheyennes are determined and they are being re-enforced by renegade Crows. Settlers have moved all their families from near the reservation.

Orders have been given to the ordnance officer at Fort Keogh to have 10,000 rounds of ammunition ready for issue. It is supposed more troops are to go to the agency. There are now here six companies under command of Maj. Marell of Fort Custer.

Omaha, Neb., June 1.—At noon Monday notice of the Cheyenne Indian trouble had been received at army headquarters at this city. The trouble is out of this department, and unless the Indians run down into Wyoming, upon which state their reservation borders, there will be nothing for this department to do, unless a general uprising follows.

It is expected that fully 2,500 delegates will take part in the various gatherings.

THE PEOPLE ARE IMPATIENT Feel That Too Much Time Is Being Consumed on Tariff Bill.

Washington, June 1.—Secretary Gage has returned to the city from Cincinnati, where he was a guest at the banquet given last Friday by the Commercial Club of that city to the visiting clubs from Chicago, Boston and St. Louis.

Mr. Gage said that a feeling of impatience seemed to be general among the people at the delay in the passage of a tariff bill. The business of the country was in a condition approaching stagnation and, although the public realized that the greatest care is necessary in the construction of a bill of such vast importance the people were beginning to complain of the time being consumed. What they most wanted was the prompt passage of a tariff bill that would produce sufficient revenue, and, with that question out of the way, the government could take up the question of reform in the currency.

The business men in attendance on the Cincinnati meeting, Mr. Gage thought, were agreeing that a currency commission should be authorized and appointed at once, with a view to their formulating a plan which could be presented to congress on its reassembling in December. During the recess of congress it was thought that hearings could and should be given by the commission to financiers and others who might desire to be heard from all parts of the country.

Killed on Indian Outlaw.

Winnipeg, Man., June 1.—Communication with Duck Lake was resumed Monday at 3:30, when a correspondent with the mounted police, who have been besieging the four Indian murderers, including Chief Almighty Voice, sent the following message: "The Prince Albert volunteers got impatient yesterday afternoon, and prevailed on the officer in charge to allow them to rush up the bluff, where the outlaws were hiding. On the first rush they did not find the hiding places of the Indians, and they again went through, killing the only remaining Indian. Almighty Voice and another Indian were killed by shells from the nine-pounder. No further trouble is anticipated."

Will See Their Son Hanged.

San Quentin, Cal., June 1.—Theodore Durrant has made the declaration that if he must meet his fate on the gallows he will die like a man. The mere suggestion of suicide is repulsive to him, he says. He also declares that he will die in the presence of his parents, who will insist on attending the execution as his invited guests. The elder Durrant says that his wife is a woman of determination, and she will press her legal rights to the limit. Under the law Warden Hale cannot deny her admission if she presents at the prison an invitation of her son requesting her presence at the hanging. The law gives him the right to invite five relatives.

New Original Package Rule.

Charleston, S. C., June 1.—Judge Simonton of the United States Circuit court has filed a decision in the case of Vandereock county against the state of South Carolina, restraining the state from preventing the sale of liquors brought into the state. This decision, if sustained on appeal, will, it is claimed, have the effect of rendering nugatory the state dispensary law. Under the decision of Judge Simonton any person may import and sell liquor in original packages. The decision is based on the inter-state commerce law, the court holding that the right of importation comprehends the right of sale.

Libel Repeal Bill Moved Up.

Springfield, Ill., June 1.—The senate libel bill was read a second time in the house Monday by a vote of 73 to 38. Mr. Alschuler offered an amendment striking out all after the enacting clause of the bill and inserting a clause simply repealing the libel law of 1895. Mr. Sherman moved to lay the amendment on the table, but this motion was lost. The amendment, by a viva voce vote, was adopted. On motion of Mr. Murray of Clinton the bill was then ordered made a special order on third reading for 10:30 next Wednesday morning.

Secure Votes of Woodmen.

Dubuque, Iowa, June 1.—The Illinois delegation in caucus endorsed the present administration of the Modern Woodmen of America. This delegation has sixty-seven of the 242 votes in the convention, and its endorsement of Head Consul Northcott and Head Clerk Hawes was a disappointment to the opposition, which hoped to split the delegation and to form a combination headed by Emery A. Townsend of Michigan for head consul and Dr. E. H. Miller of Piper City, Ill., for head clerk.

Kenosha, Wis., June 1.—[Special]—The case of Michael Pleva, whom the police believe was poisoned, is being thoroughly investigated and more arrests are expected at any moment. The suicide theory now carries very little weight. At the inquest, which was begun late yesterday afternoon, and continued today before Justice J. C. A RECEPTION GIVEN DR. AND MRS. HODGE

THE FAREWELLS SAID AT THE CHURCH LAST NIGHT.

All the Denominations in the City Were Represented, and the Well Wishes of the Congregation Were Voiced by the Pastors—Mrs. Day's Entertainment at the Myers Grand

A farewell reception was given in honor of Dr. and Mrs. M. G. Hodge at Baptist church last evening, and was very largely attended. Every seat was taken and all denominations in the city were represented. B. F. Dunwiddie presided, and the program opened with an organ duet by Mrs. O. Lawrence L. Clark, and Mrs. J. S. Field. The Divine blessing was invoked by Rev. O. P. Bestor of Evansville, after which B. F. Dunwiddie spoke. In the course of his remarks Mr. Dunwiddie said that since Dr. Hodge had been pastor of the church he had joined in holy matrimony four hundred couples and extended the right hand of fellowship to fully seven hundred.

Mr. Dunwiddie also read a letter to Rev. Olin A. Curtis who was invited to attend the reception, but was unable to do so. The letter was written to President J. T. Fitchett, of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, and was as follows:

Rev. Mr. Curtis' Warm Words. MY DEAR SIR:—Your letter of May 19 just received. I do not expect to reach Janesville in time to be present at the reception which you are to give Dr. Hodge. I only wish I could be there, for I would like to pay my tribute of respect and love to Dr. Hodge.

He was a very great help to me when I began to preach, and even to this day I feel his influence in my own work. Only a short time ago I was speaking to one of my classes here about the Baptist church, and I found that Dr. Hodge was in my mind all the time, coloring, in a delicate, friendly way, all that I said. In all my experience with preachers I have never met one more unselfish, more reliable in all kinds of situations, or more deeply grounded in the essential spirit and doctrine of the Christian life and faith. Yours very sincerely, OLIN A. CURTIS.

Music by the Orpheus Mandolin club followed, and Rev. Frank A. Pease was introduced to speak for the Court Street Methodist church. Rev. Dr. Halsey not being present. Rev. Mr. Pease spoke feelingly and closed with the hope that Dr. Hodge's successor would show the same broadness of Christian spirit that he had manifested.

Rev. E. H. Pence's Remarks.

Rev. E. H. Pence spoke for the Presbyterians, and paid a flattering compliment to Dr. Hodge's true worth. The English language, he said, was not adequate on such occasions as this. The Baptists had given to the world John Bunyan. The Baptists of Janesville had given to the people Marvin Hodge. He and his wife might leave, but their memory would remain.

"If any one in the audience wants Dr. Hodge to leave I want to make an engagement with him behind the church," said Rev. Mr. Pence.

Dr. Hodge, he continued, had often helped him, and he was thankful that he was coming to Janesville had made it possible for him to enjoy the friendship of Dr. Hodge. In closing Rev. Mr. Pence extended the well wishes of the Presbyterians.

A solo by Miss Cora Anderson followed, Ralph Buell playing the violin obligato while Mrs. Clark presided at the piano.

Rev. Robert C. Denison spoke for the Congregationalists, saying that he could not express the feelings of those who had known Rev. Dr. Hodge for many years, but that he would take with him the well wishes of those who had been his friends during his long residence here.

Rev. Dr. Hodge Speaks.

Rev. Dr. Hodge was the last speaker. To make a long pastorate it was necessary that both church and pastor be endowed with endurance. He spoke of the assistance that was always given him by the church. The other pastors had always shown him great consideration and he loved them all. The kindnesses accorded him were fully appreciated he said and in closing he said, "May the Lord bless and strengthen and keep you. Bless the pastors and their churches and the people of Janesville."

The old hymn "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" was sung by the audience and the people then met Dr. and Mrs. Hodge. Refreshments were served and music was rendered by the mandolin club.

MRS. J. B. DAY'S ENTERTAINMENT. Myers Grand was Packed From Pit to Dome Last Night.

The Myers Grand was filled last evening by an audience that gathered to witness the entertainment given under the direction of Mrs. Janet E. Day. That the entertainment was highly successful, goes without saying. Mrs. Day is a thorough teacher, and imbues her scholars with her own spirit and energy. Several scholars from other cities took part in the program, Smith's orchestra furnished delightful music, and the singing of Kramer Doty was one of the features of the evening.

The second part of the program was devoted to physical culture drills, and in this department of study the pupils did credit to themselves and their teacher. The young people who took part in the march were:

Daisy MacLean, Margie Mount, Bessie Devins, Elsie Fathers, Jessie Jackson, Allie Button, Gertrude Stoddard, Millie Hatfield, Edith Palmer, Emma Tabbert, Gardner Kawlege, Herbert Goldin, Louise Brand, Tom Hogan, Joe Fisher, Graham Galbraith, Bessie Graves, Dolly MacLean, Julia Lovejoy, Belle MacLean, Marie Hamilton, Berta Kimball, Fannie Rummel, Alta Palmer, Pearl Wiley, Fred Welch, Lawrence Doty, Stowe Lovejoy, Fred Holt, Mary Whitmore, Allice Farnsworth, Nellie Rummel, Joe Burns, Leo Froster.

DECORATED GRAVES AT THE GROVE.
Services Were Held on Saturday—Some Other News Notes.

Emerald Grove, June 1—Saturday being the day chosen upon which these annual services should be observed, the citizens of Emerald Grove arranged for and carried out a fitting program for the occasion. The weather was everything that could be desired. Two o'clock being the appointed time, the spacious auditorium of the Congregational church was well filled. The Janesville drum corps opened the exercises with a stirring march, at which the children filed into the church with wreaths and garlands and bouquets. The choir sang America. Another march by the drum corps, after which prayer was offered by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Dennis. After an appropriate selection by a male quartette Mrs. C. W. Dennis read an original poem entitled "Our Nation's Treasures." After singing by the choir, Rev. C. W. Dennis delivered the address after which the choir sang an appropriate selection. The line of march was taken up for the cemetery headed by the drum corps followed by the children, old soldiers and citizens. After the usual services of decoration were completed the ladies furnished ice cream and cake. The entire satisfaction expressed by all gave a spirit of encouragement to those who had the matter in charge, which vouches for the undertaking of the proper observance of the coming event in future. Six points below freezing Monday morning gave us a heavy frost, cutting garden stuff to the ground. In some places ice one-fourth of an inch was made. Mr. and Mrs. Sands of Capron, Ill., are stopping at the Lilburn pony ranch. Mrs. B. Armstrong visited her sister, Mrs. C. D. Fitch last week. Town Topics Quarterly.

In its current number of Tales (June), Town topics presents to its readers perhaps the most ambitious story that has appeared in its quarterly series. Its author, Clinton Ross, whose other works have earned him no little distinction in the latter school of writers, has produced in "Enigma" a charming romance, healthy in tone, virile in effect, and of a style sufficiently fascinating to enchain the reader's attention from the beginning to the end. There is one scene in particular that stamps the story as a work of art. It is a scene between a friky monarch and a daring young Englishman, whose gallant rescue of a lovely but erratic lady from the consequences of a most indiscreet steps reads like a romance of the crusades.

The Sunshine State

"Sugar—the American Question of the Day" is the title of an incisive article by Dr. Herbert Myrick of the American Agriculturist in the June Review of Reviews; Mr. Myrick presents the farmer's reasons for insisting on a farmer's sugar schedule in the Dingley bill, as opposed to the demands of the sugar trust.

BEDRIDDEN.

FIFTEEN YEARS OF SUFFERING.

The Doctors Wanted Seven Hundred Dollars to Attempt the Cure.

The following is a letter we received a short time ago from Mrs. M. C. Hinkley, 602 North Mississippi St., Indianapolis, Ind. Gentlemen:—While suffering intensely from piles, I became interested in your advertisement in one of our daily papers and procured a package of your Pyramid Pile Cure from our druggist. Contrary to expectations, the relief was instantaneous. I used two boxes of the Pile Cure and one of the Pills and am convinced that they are the only sure cure for piles on the market. I have been a sufferer from piles for fifteen years and have been confined to my bed about one-half of the time, expecting and wishing for death for the pain was so great. I went to the college here and the doctors said my case was a new one to them, the great pain having brought on a large rupture, which they wanted seven hundred dollars to cut out. I was very much afraid that death would result from the blood-poisoning which they said would result from the operation. I feel as though I can't praise the Pyramid Pile Cure and the Pyramid Pills too highly, as I am convinced that they saved my life. Before using your cure I weighed only ninety pounds and now I weigh one hundred and fifty and feel as well as I ever did in my life. You are at liberty to use this testimonial in any manner you may see fit, as I want all sufferers from this terrible disease to know that there has at last been compounded a remedy that will cure piles.

MRS. M. C. HINKLEY.
There is no need of the danger, pain and expense of a surgical operation for any form of piles. The Pyramid Pile Cure does the work without pain and is the safest and best. Remember also that the Pyramid Pills are a certain cure for constipation, acting without griping and restoring natural action to the bowels.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents and $1.00, and the Pyramid Pills at 25 cents, or by mail from Pyramid Co., Albion, Mich.

Wonderful Discoveries.

In no science, not excepting Electrical Engineering, has such important advancements been made in the last decade as in Medicine and Surgery. Instruments have been devised by which those expert in their use may look into nearly every cavity of the body and thereby know for a certainty their exact condition. The germ-producing various diseases has been isolated and studied and new and certain means of treatment directed to reaching and destroying them have been devised. Coincident with these, new and wonderful remedies have been discovered in different parts of the world, and in the hands of these Specialists familiar with their use, chronic and long standing diseases which have resisted the old methods and remedies are made to yield immediately because the source of the disease is treated, not the result. Physicians who received their training years ago according to the old methods, and have been busily engaged in the practice of these principles ever since, cannot be expected to be well versed and skillful in the vast number of improvements which have recently been made. However good his intentions, however agreeable his manner, he is unfortunately not equipped to achieve immediate results possible to the modern Specialist. Many cases which are commonly considered incurable and given up by friends and Physicians to suffer or die can be rapidly and permanently cured. Dr. Melville's patients are her friends, and their good will and interest is often of greater value than their fee, for her principal practice comes through personal recommendation of cured patients to their friends and acquaintances. The names of her patients are not flaunted before the public.

There is a tragic list of diseases which woman alone may suffer from. Men have their physical distresses, but man is seldom called upon to endure anything so painful, so lingering and tenacious as those distressing diseases to which woman is peculiarly subject and which are especially terrible for the reason that most of them affect the mind as well as the body. They induce irritability, they destroy ambition, and they injure the memory. Ninety-nine out of a hundred women are afflicted with some of these complaints in greater or lesser degree, and so used have they become to pain that they can hardly fancy mortal existence without it. Many of them are women of natural brilliancy, and their possibilities for usefulness would be very great if they were not handicapped by these tormenting troubles.

You can talk freely to a woman doctor when it is revolting to relate your private trouble to a man, besides a man doesn't understand simply because he is a man.

Dr. Melville makes no pretensions to be able to cure every disease and all cases, but she does claim to give to her patients the benefit of every new medicine or curative device which will favor recovery and to administer them with the greatest skill which exceptional special modern training and experience makes possible; to give an honest and candid opinion in every case; to refuse such cases as she cannot benefit; to make her charges reasonable, moderate and fair and to secure in every case at least as good result as promised. Dr. Melville's office is at 105 S. Main St., near S. First. Office hours: 9 to 4 and 7 to 8.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

1841—Sir David Wilkie, R. A., celebrated Scottish painter, died at sea off Gibraltar; born 1786.

1872—James Gordon Bennett, founder of the New York Herald, died in New York; born 1795. Bennett was a pioneer newspaper maker. When his paper was a weak, struggling affair, he reported the great New York fire of 1835 with a fullness of detail and incident which set the fashion for the times. He introduced the daily money article and engaged correspondents in Europe and in the principal American cities. He employed newsboys to circulate the paper, and was, in fact, original, aggressive and audacious. In an age when the so-called "gentlemen" of the highest type, like Napoleon, personally supervised the vast labors of his enterprise, organized his workers and trained them.

1879—James Shields, American general, died in Ottumwa, Ia.; born in Dungannon, Ireland, 1810. Prince Louis Napoleon, the only child and heir of Napoleon III, killed by the Zulus in South Africa, where he served on the staff of the British commander.

1888—General Henry Warner Birge, a dashing Connecticut soldier in the civil war, died in New York city; born at Hartford 1823.

"BUSINESS GROWING."

There is no warrant for croakers in the Dun and Bradstreet commercial reports given out Saturday. The Dun report closes with this significant statement:

"People are actually doing more business than they realize. They reckon on values, but these are much lower than in any previous year of prosperity, and leave little margin for profits. In quantity there is almost as much business being done as the years of greatest prosperity, and though the increase in production would call for a material expansion, the comparison is not discouraging. The recovery is slow, hesitating and gradual, but more has been done on the whole in May than in April, while returns of April showed the volume of business only 10 per cent smaller than that of the best year heretofore. Yet hesitation is doing its worst every week and multitudes are waiting because of possibilities at Washington, who ought to be filing the demand for labor and the products of labor."

The tide of prosperity is rising. Let them who fail to read the signs pay for their wilful blindness.

When ever the conductors of one or two sensational newspapers in New York run short of material a cabinet resignation story is printed, under a Washington date line. The latest of these stories had four members of the cabinet about to resign. The only wonder is that anybody can be found to believe anything that is printed in these papers, which prove their utter unreliability in every issue.

There is a pointer in the anxiety of of Tammany to keep Mr. Bryan from making speeches in New York during the municipal campaign. They know the effect of Bryan's speeches in that locality.

The democrats in congress are afraid that President McKinley will bring about the independence of Cuba in a peaceable way, that is why they are so anxious for congress to tangle things up.

Congressman Bailey, of Texas, concluded that he would rather make silver speeches in Missouri than to keep butting his head against Speaker Reed's will.

The republicans of the house are on the right track. The people are willing to trust President McKinley to do the right thing towards Cuba in his own way.

A WOMAN'S SUFFERING.

The Story of a Life That Should Have Been Filled with Brightness and Joy, Marred by Sickness.

The Indian's Secret.

How Mrs. Hannah Faulwell of Patterson, Iowa, Learns From the Indian Squaw How to Get Health.

Mrs. Hannah Faulwell, of Patterson, Iowa, writes the Kickapoo Indian Medicine Co., as follows:—"I wish to give my testimony in behalf of your Kickapoo Indian Prairie Plant. I was in a terrible condition, having suffered for years with female troubles. I began to improve, however, as soon as I took your medicine. I am still using it and am nearly well, although mine was a very aggravated case. I have no doubt but by continuing a short time longer I will experience a complete cure."

Mrs. HANNAH FAULWELL. This same Kickapoo Indian Prairie Plant is the remedy the Kickapoo Indian women used for all womb troubles. To them such diseases as are experienced by their white sisters were unknown. They did not consider child birth a time of terrible pain and misery, and in spite of all this they were exposed to the elements continually and were able to do as much work, and many of them did more, than the men of their tribes. This special woman's remedy was the one of most interest to the squaws of the tribe, it being prepared by them as in fact were all the other remedies. Today Kickapoo Indian Prairie Plant can be bought of any druggist, and it is identical the same as when it was prepared by the Indians centuries ago. Other Kickapoo Indian Remedies can also be bought, and it should be remembered that these medicines are all—while prompt and efficient in their action—absolutely harmless, as they contain no poisonous ingredients of any description. We would advise women who suffer to give this remedy a single trial and good health will reward them. Kickapoo Indian Sagwa also should be used to invigorate and build up a depleted condition of the body.

SYRIAN SETTLEMENT IS TORN BY STRIFE

LONG KNIFE AND LONG WORDS ARE USED.

One Man Says Another Tried To Carve Him, and Later They Almost Came To Blows in Court—Sheriff Acheson's Knowledge of the Language Comes In Handy.

Two Syrians, not knowing the ways of the American courts, tried to settle their trouble in the municipal court this morning with their fists and only produced a pitched battle.

For the first time in the annals of the county, a "Syrian trial" is on the docket.

When Kary has had Frank Schillaty arrested on the charge of assault and battery.

Schillaty denies the charge and the case is set for trial on next Monday morning.

The peace that has prevailed in the local Syrian village for the past three years was brought to a sudden end yesterday by a free for all fight with Frank Schillaty and Amen Kary as the chief actors. Kary claims that Schillaty assaulted him with a knife, because it is alleged, Kary made an insulting remark. With his head fairly hidden in bandages Kary appeared at the jail yesterday afternoon and told his story to Sheriff Acheson, saying that he wanted a warrant sworn out for Schillaty's arrest.

Acheson's Tough Job.

Sheriff Acheson then went to the Syrian settlement near the corner of Hickory and Glen streets and investigated the charges. On his arrival he was received by the entire Syrian population.

"Kzywboxkrugel! Duh banz-duphutor! Kramen!" declared one of the women as Sheriff appeared in sight.

"Nybiotzkrugel, Kramen Schillaty punch bxbor rix skixp!"

"Oh I didn't think that it was as bad as that," said the sheriff who studied the Syrian language when he was a boy. "It seems to be quite a serious matter." And he let it go at that.

The air was charged with consonants, and all the Syrians wanted to talk at once. The sheriff looked wise until one of the men, who speaks the English language, got cooled down so that he could inform the sheriff of the fracas. Kary's wife, it seems, has been on a visit to Chicago. On her return, it is alleged, she made the remark that a relative of Schillaty's was not doing much towards making a living for himself. This remark, it is said, Schillaty took as an insult and according to the charges he started to carve Kary with a butcher knife.

Neighbors Were Against.

During the fight that followed the women screamed and the men swore a blue streak in their native tongue. Neighbors barred their doors—"Thinking that the Syrians had got the Turkish massacre fever"—and a messenger was sent to town for the police, Sheriff Acheson responding to the call.

When Kary appeared in court this morning he did not look as if he had been "carved" to any great extent. A small cut on his left ear was the only evidence of the engagement. When Judge Phelps asked for particulars concerning the case he was showered with answers that taxed the alphabet. Syrian women and children were there in force, but the plaintiff wanted more witnesses and the case was adjourned until next Monday.

Schillaty has engaged an attorney and District Attorney Jackson will prosecute.

Would Have Fought in Court.

While the officers of the court were busy, the two Syrians got at it again in the court room. Nobody knew what they were doing until one of them let go a word a foot and a half long.

"That was a cuss-word," declared Sheriff Acheson, as he wheeled about and grabbed the two men as they were about to mix. Judge Phelps used the gavel industriously, and the officers used their strong right arms, and peace was finally restored.

The Syrians were mad when they filed out of court, and jabbered industriously.

"Kalyboxwpxqzptaki," declared one of the men, wheeling about suddenly. Constable Cochran dodged the word; another Syrian seized the excited one; and the party trooped down onto the bridge.

There'll be a lot of time in the municipal court Monday.

CHIEF BAKER WAS SURPRISED

Head of the Madison Police Department Visits Janesville Yesterday.

Chief of Police Baker of Madison, spent yesterday in the city. Madison, he says, has a police force of eight uniformed men, while three work in citizen's clothes. Chief Baker was also surprised to learn that a city of this size was kept so orderly by a police force of but three men. Chief Baker is the second lieutenant of the Governor's Guard, and is a well known militiaman. He is said to be one of the best disciplinarians in the state service, and the fact that the Madison company stands at the head of the First regiment, is said to be largely due to his hard work.

THE FOLSOM CASE IS NOW ON TRIAL

ALLEGED FIRE-BUG IS BEFORE THE COURT.

Jury Is Secured, and the Matter Will Busy Judge Bennett for Some Days. Verdict For the Defendant in the "Ear Chewing Case"—Other Court Work.

Charles Folsom, the Clinton man who is charged with arson, was brought into the circuit court this morning and what promised to be one of the most interesting criminal cases on the present docket, is now well under way. Folsom pleaded "not guilty" when the information was read to him.

The following jury is now hearing the case: L. G. Perkins, C. C. Howard, O. S. Shepard, Leonard Williams, S. E. Barnard, Simon Simmons, G. W. Stetson, James Drummond, George H. Davey, Edwin Hubbell, John C. Eddy and Wesley Winch. In charge of Turkey Samuel Brown the prisoner appeared in court and took his seat near the jury box. Folsom is charged with setting fire to a barn owned by Giles Burt who resides at Clinton.

The fire occurred several months ago and aroused the citizens to a high pitch of excitement. Undersheriff Cochran made an investigation and found evidence that warranted the arrest of Folsom. On February 20 he was taken in charge by Undersheriff Cochran and placed in jail, he being unable to secure bail.

Several witnesses will be brought from Clinton, and the trial of the case will take some days. District Attorney W. A. Jackson appeared for the state, while Attorney J. J. Cunningham is defending the prisoner.

Arguments in the case of Henry Beckman vs. Julius Cousins' were finished at 11 o'clock this morning and the case went to the jury. The jury is composed of the following men: L. G. Hayward, G. H. Howard, Andrew Evenson, L. D. Jerome, Homer Paul, F. H. Gifford, James Hastings, H. A. Finch, A. H. Taylor, O. F. Clarke, Adam Thorburn and John Piteber. The final arguments lasted an hour each and were made by Attorney William Smith for the plaintiff and Attorneys T. S. Nolan and Silas Menzie for the defendant.

At 2:15 o'clock the jury came in with a verdict for the defendant.

Jurors B. J. Barnes William Gilley and Charles Stoller were excused for term.

The jury has been excused until Thursday morning.

IS A JANESVILLE PRODUCT

The Bower City the Only Bicycle Made in the City.

In the article on bicycles and people who represent them, in yesterday's issue of The Gazette, the Bower City wheel, made by F. Randall, was omitted. The only bicycle made in Janesville, is the Bower City, and during the last five seasons Mr. Randall has built up a reputation. More good reasons for buying the Bower City can be pointed out, than any other wheel in the city. For instance, the wheel can be made to order exactly as you want it. You get any color frame, any size frame, almost any make of saddle or handle bar, and with the guarantee from Mr. Randall that the wheel is made of the best material obtainable. Every part of the Bower City wheel is absolutely warranted to be perfect, and during the season any repair of any kind is made free. The wheel is also warranted against any imperfection for one year. One of the best points about Randall's wheel lies in the fact that no delay is necessary for any repair or any minor alteration. It can be attended to within a day. The fact that many of the mechanics of Janesville ride Bower City wheels speaks highly for them. They appreciate the fine mechanism in the bearings and vital parts of a wheel. Mr. Randall is no novice at bicycle building. He was employed for a number of years in one of the largest bicycle factories in Milwaukee and understands thoroughly every detail in bike building. But one grade of wheel is made and that wheel brings the low price of $50. Mr. Randall superintends the building of each wheel himself and it would be impossible to go elsewhere and buy so good a wheel for anywhere for this amount of money. It is easy to buy a wheel of Randall so far as money is concerned because he makes terms that people in the most modest circumstances can afford to indulge in. A part payment and the balance in monthly installments can be arranged so that the purchase is a perfectly easy one. If you want a bicycle, don't put it off because you haven't all the money at once to put into one, but go talk with Randall, he will help you out. What is the use of going without a wheel and missing all the pleasure derived therefrom when easy means are placed in your way for securing a bike.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT MADE.

One Welsbach Is Equal to Three Old Style Burners—Letter From Mayor of Reading, Pennsylvania.

Office of the New Gas Light Company, June 1, 1897.—We desire to say to the people and the authorities of this city, that Welsbach lights are now in use on the streets of many cities, and are found to be economical and effective.

In this connection we wish to say that the people should not confound the Welsbach gas lamp of today with the gas lamp formerly in use here. We propose to give you 300 Welsbachs. You had about 150 of the old style gas lamps in use. As each Welsbach is equivalent to about three of the old style lamps the 300 Welsbachs would be equivalent to about six times the number formerly in use to light this city, or 900 old style lamps. And this with an annual saving to the city of $4,500.

When we say we will furnish 475 Welsbach lamps for the amount now expended for city lighting it means an equivalent to 1425 old style lamps.

We can guarantee satisfaction, as where Welsbach lights are in use for street lighting they give entirely adequate service. Read the following letter from the mayor of Reading, Pa.:

Mayor's Office, Reading, Pa., May 28.—Our city uses three kinds of street illuminants, the arc, incandescent (electric) and Welsbach gas lights. The latter are placed generally in the middle of the square to afford the light that the corner illuminants do not give. We have found them serviceable and satisfactory in every respect. The light is regular, causes little or no trouble and is bright and clear in all seasons of the year. It is economy for any city to use it.

Yours respectfully,

COUNCIL PAYS $3,015 AND BORROWS $2,500

WATER TAX MET AT A SPECIAL SESSION.

Item of Fifty Dollars, For the Sprinkling of Riverview Park, Is Held Over—Acting Mayor Burnham Authorized To Secure Funds for the City.

The council held a special meeting this afternoon and borrowed $2,500 to pay the water tax.

The whole amount due was $3,015 this including the hydrant rental to June 1, 1897, and the water for fountains and park sprinkling during the summer.

Mayor Thoroughgood was authorized to borrow the money, but delayed making the loan until it should be needed, and today was called out of town. A special meeting was therefore thought advisable.

Acting Mayor Burnham presided over the meeting. The water company's bill for $3,065 was read, and one item—$50, for sprinkling Riverview Park—was dropped, there being little prospect of sprinkling that park during the coming summer.

On motion of Alderman Gilkey Acting Mayor Burnham was authorized to borrow $2,500, and the clerk was authorized to draw an order in the water company's favor for $3,015.

ARE TO USE NEW COSTUMES.

"Merchant of Venice" Company Will Be Attired Correctly.

The costumes to be used in the production of the "Merchant of Venice" by the High school pupils, will be correct in every way. They will be furnished by Miss Hagenau of the Schiller theatre, Chicago, who is said to be one of the best costumers in the United States. The costumes will all be made especially to fit the wearers, and will be new. The production will be an elaborate one. All Janesville people should patronize it, and help the pupils to pay the bills.

THE VALLEY OF THE SHADOW.

Heleen Hogan.

At 6:40 o'clock this morning the death angel entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hogan, four miles east of Beloit in the town of Turtle, and took from them their little daughter Helen, at the age of three years, nine months and fifteen days, after an illness of two weeks duration with typhoid fever and inflammation of the bowels. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

DR. MELVILLE has made a study of the condition of women, as regards health and occupation. Attend the lecture, and you will be deeply interested.

The Shirt Waist.

Every woman who likes a garment that is at once neat, cool and comfortable, says a New York fashion writer, is glad to know that notwithstanding for certain uses the shirt waist has been ostracized it has still retained its place among the useful, almost necessary garments for the summer. Never was the early display of hot weather waists prettier or more diversified than the present exhibit. There are a number of morning waists of linen, percale, lawn and plain gingham, made with flat pointed yokes and full fronts, but the great majority of them have yokes tucked either diagonally or up and down in clusters, and some are so arranged from shoulder to belt. The mutton leg or bishop sleeves are shaped with little or no extra fullness from the elbow down, and the entire sleeve is small. On sleeves to wear beneath blazers or other jackets the sleeve is cut in narrow, regular shirt sleeve fashion, with only fullness enough at the top to give freedom to the upper arm.

Short boleros worn with English serge skirts and shirt waists will be used for cycling, mountain climbing and mornings on the beach. Indeed a bolero or eon in one of its protean shapes seems still an indispensable article of wear. All sorts of open fronted jackets are still to prevail, and the sleeveless vests and waists provided to wear with them cannot be counted. Silks in India and China weaves, foulards, shepherds' checks and hair stripes are so very inexpensive that they are really a more economical purchase than cottons and linens that go weekly to the laundry. They are cooler, they cling less in very hot weather, they are certainly smarter and are suitable for more occasions than wash waists, however pretty. These latter garments have their own special worth, however, and at least three of them should be counted among the necessities of the summer outfit.

Bodice Trimming.

The variety in bodice trimming is beyond any complete description, for new ideas and combinations and deft manipulations of lace, silk, velvet and ribbon are daily appearing. Sometimes we see the triple edges of three little bolero fronts set in one above the other and as a rule made of three different materials. The full, soft vest is of another color and fabric, and perhaps the girle and color match neither boleros nor vest. On a new Paris dress a soft pink glace silk flecked with white is tucked across the back and front to form a yoke, and an accordion plaited frill frames the entire yoke. There are black velvet ribbon bows on the shoulders, a folded girle and collar, with a bow at the back, complete the bodice decorations. The tops of the sleeve puffs are tucked to match the yoke. This is a simple, youthful bodice, easily described and as easily made. Inch wide tucks make the prettiest effect if we except very transparent materials, which look best in very narrow tucks, with insertion bands between each cluster of five tucks.

Philadelphia's Nocturnal Bicycle Girls.

One of the odd and curious things is to see women out alone on wheels on Broad and other streets as late as 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning. In occasional instances they are trained nurses who take that means of getting exercise and going to distant homes, but generally they are not, and to the belated wayfarer it is a subject of curiosity and speculation as to who these young women and girls are who go whizzing by in the lonesome streets just before day-break and where they have been and where they are going and what causes them to be out at such hours.—Philadelphia Times.

WHAT IS THIS DISEASE CALLED DYSPEPSIA?

Like a thief at night, it steals in upon us unawares. The patients have pains about the chest and sides, and sometimes in the back. They feel dull and sleepy; the mouth has a bad taste, especially in the morning. A sort of sticky slime collects about the teeth. The appetite is poor. There is feeling like a heavy load on the stomach; sometimes a faint, all gone sensation at the pit of the stomach which food does not satisfy. Eyes are sunken, the hands and feet become cold and clammy. After awhile a cough sets in, at first dry, but after a few months it is attended with a greenish colored expectoration. The patient feels tired all the while, and sleep does not seem to afford any rest. After a time he becomes nervous, irritable and gloomy, and has evil forebodings. There is a giddiness, a sort of whirling sensation in the head when rising up suddenly. The bowels become constipated; the skin is dry and hot at times; the blood becomes thick and stagnant; the whites of the eyes become tinged with yellow; the urine is scanty and high colored, depositing a sediment after standing. There is frequently a spitting up of the food, sometimes with a sour taste and sometimes with a sweetish taste; this is frequently attended with palpitation of the heart; the vision becomes impaired with spots before the eyes; there is a feeling of great prostration and weakness. All of these symptoms are in turn present. It is thought that nearly one-third of our population has this disease in some of its varied forms. It has been found that medical men have mistaken the nature of this disease. Some have treated it for a Liver Complaint, some for Dyspepsia, others for Kidney Disease, etc., etc., but none of the various kinds of treatment have been attended with success. Now, the Shaker Digestive Cordial causes the food eaten to be digested. This will cause an appetite for more food, and this being digested will result in an increase of strength, an increase of flesh and an increase of nerve power.

The tired, weary feeling will give way to vigor and courage. The pale, thin and emaciated will recover their color and plumpness, because red blood and fat are the result of properly digested food.

A 10c trial bottle will produce a result. Its good effect will be realized at once. You will not have to take a dozen bottles to find out if it is doing you any good. Try it, and then give praise to the Shakers of Mount Lebanon, New York, for the relief that you obtain.

A BRAVE SHERIFF.

Murderers Parker and Miller Saved From Mob Vengeance.

Prescott, Arizona, May 31.—A determined though unorganized effort was made to lynch Murderers Parker and Miller when they were brought in from Flagstaff at midnight Saturday. A great crowd met the sheriff's carriage at the court house entrance and all made a rush for Parker, who is particularly hated for his wanton killing of young Lee Norris in the jail delivery of three weeks ago.

Sheriff Ruffner displayed fine courage and coolness. He placed himself in front of the prisoners, and, with leveled Winchester, told the excited crowd he would maintain order and protect his prisoners at the cost of his life.

Though most of the crowd were armed and prepared to have their own way in the matter, Ruffner's brave stand cooled them off. They hesitated, and then, lacking a daring leader, remained passive.

GIVES STRENGTH TO MEN

Free To All Who Are Weak And Worn

A METHOD TO CURE AND INCREASE THE POWER.

It is a remarkable fact that a man never appreciates the sufferings of others until he himself has passed through the fire of pain or remorse. Then it is that he looks around for those who are suffering; he wants them to profit by his experience; he gives his time and money gladly for the benefit of others and never tires of his zeal. There are plenty of men weak and worn out, struggling with remorse and fear, the natural outcome of habits that brought incapacity; a sense of loneliness and a feeling as if the best side of life had been banished forever. Such men should write to Thomas Slater, Box 494, Kalamazoo, Mich. He will send free by mail, in a plain, sealed envelope, full particulars about the method he used, and this will enable any man to get a complete cure at home. It is the method that Mr. Slater used to cure himself of the troubles that sap the strength and vigor and also enlarged his organ's to natural size. The cure was complete, so satisfying and such a wonderful change from his former condition that he will gladly tell others all about it, sending all particulars. He figures that he doesn't know of a better way to show his appreciation of his own cure and sufferings of others. There must be generous men in this world to offset the tide of covetousness. Write to Mr. Slater—it will cost nothing for his description and method.

CHAPTER I.

THE PARTY ON SPECIAL NO. 218.

Any one who hopes to find in what is here called a work of literature had better lay it aside unread. At Yale I should have got the sack in rhetoric and English composition, let alone other studies, had it not been for the fact that I played half back on the team and so the professors marked me away up above where I ought to have ranked. That was 12 years ago, but my life since I received my parchment has hardly been of a kind to improve me in either style or grammar. It is true that one woman tells me I write well and my directors never find fault with my compositions, but I know that she likes my letters because, whatever else they may say to her, they always say in some form, "I love you," while my board approves my annual reports because thus far I have been able to end each with "I recommend the declaration of a dividend of — per cent on the earnings of the current year." I should therefore prefer to reserve my writings for such friendly critics as it did not seem necessary to make public a plain statement concerning an affair over which there appears to be much confusion. I have heard in the last five years not less than 20 renderings of what is commonly called "the great K. and A. train robbery," some so twisted and distorted that but for the intermediate versions I should never have recognized them as attempts to narrate the series of events in which I played a somewhat prominent part.

I have read or been told that, unassisted, the pseudo hero captured a dozen desperadoes; that he was one of the road agents himself; that he was saved from lynching only by the timely arrival of cavalry; that the action of the United States government in rescuing him from the civil authorities was a most high handed interference with state rights; that he received his reward from a grateful railroad by being promoted; that a lovely woman as recompense for his villainy—but, bother, it's my business to tell what really occurred and not what the world chooses to invent. And if any man thinks he would have done otherwise in my position I can only say that he is a better or a worse man than Dick Gordon.

Primarily, it was football which shaped my end. Owing to my skill in the game, I took a postgraduate at the Sheffield Scientific school, that the team might have my services for an extra two years. That led to my knowing a little about mechanical engineering, and when I left the "quad" for good I went into the Alton railroad shops. It wasn't long before I was foreman of a section; next I became a division superintendent, and after I had stuck to that for a time I was appointed superintendent of the Kansas and Arizona railroad, a line extending from Trinidad in Kansas to The Needles in Arizona, tapping the Missouri Western system at the first place and the Great Southern at the other. With both lines we had important traffic agreements, as well as the closest relations, which sometimes were a little difficult, as the two roads were anything but friendly. And we had directors of each on the K. and A. board, in which they fought like cats. Indeed it could only be a question of time when one would oust the other and then absorb my road. My headquarters were at Albuquerque, in New Mexico, and it was there, in October, 1890, that I received the communication which was the beginning of all that followed.

This initial factor was a letter from the president of the Missouri Western, telling me that their first vice president, Mr. Cullen (who was also a director of my road), was coming out to attend the annual election of the K. and A., which under our charter had to be held in Ash Forks, A. T. A second paragraph told me that Mr. Cullen's family accompanied him, and that they all wished to visit the Grand canyon of the Colorado on their way. Finally the president wrote that the party traveled in his own private car and asked me to make myself generally useful to them. Having become quite hardened to just such demands, at the proper date I ordered my superintendent's car on to No. 2, and the next morning it was dropped off at Trinidad.

The moment No. 3 arrived I climbed into the president's special, that was the last car on the train, and introduced myself to Mr. Cullen, whom, though an official of my road, I had never met. He seemed surprised at my presence, but greeted me very pleasantly as soon as I explained that the Missouri Western office had asked me to do what I could for him and that I was there for that purpose. His party were about to sit down to breakfast, and he asked me to join them. So we passed into the dining room at the forward end of the car, where I was introduced to "My son," "Lord Raltes," and "Captain Ackland." The son was a junior copy of his father, tall and fine looking; but, in place of the frank and easy manner of his sire, he was so very English that most people would have sworn falsely as to his native land. Lord Raltes was a little, well built chap, not half so English as Albert Cullen, quick in manner and thought, being in this the opposite of his brother, Captain Ackland, who was heavy enough to rock ballast a roadbed. Both brothers gave me the impression of being gentlemen, and both were decidedly good looking.

After the introductions Mr. Cullen said we would not wait, and his remark called my attention to the fact that there was one more place at the table than there were people assembled. I had barely noted this when my host said, "Here's the truant," and, turning, I faced a lady who had just entered. Mr. Cullen said, "Madge, let me introduce Mr. Gordon to you." My bow was made to a girl of about 20, with light brown hair, the bluest of eyes, a fresh skin and a fine figure, dressed so natively as to be to me, after my four years of western life, a sight for tired eyes. She greeted me pleasantly, made a neat little apology for having kept us waiting, and then we all sat down.

It was a very jolly breakfast table, Mr. Cullen and his son being capital talkers and Lord Raltes a good third, while Miss Cullen was quick and clever enough to match the three. Before the meal was over I came to the conclusion that Lord Raltes was in love with Miss Cullen, for he kept making low asides to her, and from the fact that she allowed them, and indeed responded, I drew the conclusion that he was a lucky beggar, feeling, I confess, a little pang that a title was going to win such a nice American girl.

One of the first subjects spoken of was train robbery, and Miss Cullen, like most easterners, seemed to take a great interest in it and had an quantity of questions to ask me.

"I've left all my jewelry behind, except my watch," she said, "and that I hide every night. So I really hope we'll be held up, it would be such an adventure."

"There isn't any chance of it, Miss Cullen," I told her, "and if we were, you probably wouldn't even know that it was happening, but would sleep right through it."

"Wouldn't they try to get our money and our watches?" she demanded.

I told her no and explained that the express and mail cars were the only ones to which the road agents paid any attention. She wanted to know the way it was done, so I described to her how sometimes the train was flagged by a danger signal, and when it had slowed down the runner found himself covered by armed men, or how a gang would board the train, one by one, at way stations, and then, when the time came, steal forward, secure the express agent and postal clerk, climb over the tender and compel the runner to stop the train at some lonely spot on the road. She made me tell her all the details of such robberies as I knew about, and, though I had never been concerned in any, I was able to describe several, which, as they were monotonously alike, I confess I colored up a bit here and there, in an attempt to make them interesting to her. I seemed to succeed, for she kept the subject going even after we had left the table and were smoking our cigars in the observation saloon. Lord Raltes had a lot to say about the American lack of courage in letting trains containing 20 and 30 men be held up by half a dozen robbers.

"Why," he ejaculated, "both my brother and I have a double express with us, and do you think we'd sit still in our seats? No. Hang me if we wouldn't pot something!"

"You might," I laughed, a little nettled, I confess, by his speech, "but I'm afraid it would be yourselves."

"Aw, you fancy resistance impossible?" drawled Albert Cullen.

"It has been tried," I answered, "and without success. You can see it's like all surprises—one side is prepared before the other side knows there is danger. Without regard to relative numbers, the odds are all in favor of the road agents."

"But I wouldn't sit still, whatever the odds," said his lordship. "And no Englishman would."

"Well, my lord," I said, "I hope, for your sake, then, that you'll never be in a hold up, for I should feel about you as the runner of a locomotive did when the old lady asked him if it wasn't very painful to him to run over people. 'Yes, madam,' he sadly replied. 'There is nothing that muzzes an engine up so.'"

I don't think Miss Cullen liked Lord Raltes' comments on American courage any better than I did, for she said:

"Can't you take Lord Raltes and Captain Ackland into the service of the K. and A., Mr. Gordon, as a special guard?"

"The K. and A. has never had a robbery yet, Miss Cullen," I replied, "and I don't think that it ever will have."

"Why not?" she asked.

I explained to her how the canyon of the Colorado to the north and the distance of the Mexican border to the south made escape so almost desperate that the road agents preferred to devote their attentions to other routes. "If we were boarded, Miss Cullen," I said, "your jewelry would be as safe as it is in Chicago, for the robbers would only clean out the express and mail cars. But if they should so far forget their manners as to take your trinkets I'd agree to return them to you inside of one week."

"That makes it all the jollier," she cried eagerly. "We could have the fun of the adventure and yet not lose anything. Can't you arrange for it, Mr. Gordon?"

"I'd like to please you, Miss Cullen," I said, "and I'd like to give Lord Raltes a chance to show us how to handle those gentry, but it's not to be done." I read ly should have been glad to have the road agents pay us a call.

We spent that day pulling up the Raton pass, and so on over the Glorieta pass down to Lamy, where, as the party wanted to see Santa Fe, I had our two cars dropped off the overland, and we ran up the branch line to the old Mexican city. It was well worn ground to me, but I enjoyed showing the sights to Miss Cullen, for by that time I had come to the conclusion that I had never met a sweeter or jollier girl. Her beauty, too, was of a kind that kept growing on one, and before I had known her 24 hours, without quite being in love with her, I was beginning to hate Lord Raltes, which was about the same thing, I suppose. Every hour convinced me that the two understood each other, not merely from the little asides and confidences they kept exchanging, but even more so from the way Miss Cullen would take his lordship down occasionally. Yet, like a fool, the more I saw to confirm my first diagnosis the more I found myself dwelling on the dimples at the corners of Miss Cullen's mouth, the bewitching uplift of her upper lip, the runaway curls about her neck and the curves and color of her cheeks.

Half a day served to see everything in Santa Fe worth looking at, but Mr. Cullen decided to spend there the time they had to wait for his other son to join the party. To pass the hours I hunted up some ponies, and we spent three days in long rides up the old Santa Fe trail and to the outlying mountains. Only one incident was other than pleasant, and that was my fault. As we were riding back to our cars on the second afternoon we had to cross the branch roadbed, where a gang happened to be at work tamping the ties.

"Since you're interested in road agents, Miss Cullen," I said, "you may like to see one. That fellow standing in the ditch is Jack Drake, who was concerned in the D. and R. G. hold up three years ago."

Miss Cullen looked where I pointed, and, seeing a man with a gun, gave a startled jump and pulled up her pony, evidently supposing that we were about to be attacked. "Shan't we run?" she began, but then checked herself as she took in the facts of the grab clothes of the gang and the two armed men in uniform. "They are convicts?" she asked. And when I nodded she said, "Poor things!" Then after a pause she asked, "How long is he in prison for?"

"Twenty years," I told her.

"How harsh that seems!" she said. "How cruel we are to people for a few moments' wrongdoing, which the circumstances may almost have justified!" She checked her pony as we came opposite Drake and said, "Can you use money?"

"Can I, lady?" said the fellow, leaning in an attempt to look amiable. "Wish I had the chance to try."

The guard interrupted by telling her it wasn't permitted to speak to the convicts while out of bounds, and so we had to ride on. All Miss Cullen was able to do was to throw him a little bunch of flowers she had gathered in the mountains. It was literally casting pearls before swine, for the fellow did not seem particularly pleased, and when, late that night, I walked down there with a lantern I found the flowers lying in the ditch. The experience seemed to sadden and distress Miss Cullen very much for the rest of the afternoon, and I kicked myself for having called her attention to the brute and could have knocked him down for the way he had looked at her. It is curious that I felt thankful at the time that Drake was not holding up a train Miss Cullen was on. It is always the unexpected that happens. If I could have looked into the future, what a strange variation on this thought I should have seen!

The three days went all too quickly, thanks to Miss Cullen, and by the end of that time I began to understand what love really meant to a chap and how men could come to kill each other for it. For a fairly sensible, hard headed fellow it was pretty quick work, I acknowledge, but let any man have seven years of western life without seeing a woman worth speaking of and then meet Miss Cullen, and if he didn't do as I did I wouldn't trust him on the railroad of a locomotive, for I should put him down as defective both in eyesight and in intellect.

GERMAN CATHOLICS CONVENT.

Annual Meeting of the Illinois Union Opens at Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., May 31.—The fifth annual meeting of the German Catholic Union of the State of Illinois opened here Sunday and will be in session Monday and Tuesday. There are several thousand visitors in the city from all over the state and the day was given up largely to the social and religious observance of the order. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon a grand parade of societies from all the principal cities of the state took place, which was one of the most imposing of the kind ever seen here. After attending vespers at the Church of the Sacred Heart, the delegates returned to the hall, where Mayor Wheeler made an address of welcome and the preliminary session of the convention was held.

Levee Is Again Broken.

New Orleans, La., May 31.—A crevasse resulting from over confidence and relaxation of vigilance occurred Sunday morning in the levee at Conrad's Point, four miles by rail below Baton Rouge, on the east side of the Mississippi river. The water in a stream forty feet wide and seven feet deep began pouring through the breaks and spreading rapidly over the fertile lands in the vicinity. The officials of the Pontchartrain levee district and of the Illinois Central railroad are on hand with large forces of men and unlimited supplies of material and will no doubt succeed in closing the break before any very serious damage is done to the adjacent plantations.

Slain by His Daughter.

Mount Clemens, Mich., May 31.—Frederick Holt, a farmer in Warren township nine miles from this city, was shot and killed Sunday afternoon by his daughter, Minnie, 22 years old. The girl was arrested and brought here. Her father attended church at Roseville, it is said, but got drunk on the way home. Entering his home when his daughter was there alone, the frenzied parent, it is alleged, seized a razor and made for the girl. She fired at him and killed him instantly.

Cascarets stimulate liver, kidneys and bowels. Never sicken, weaken or gripe, 10 cents.

WISE WOMEN.

Those Who Heed the First Symptoms of Nervous Derangement.

Special from Mrs. Pinkham.

A dull, aching pain at the lower part of the back and a sensation of little rills of heat, or chills running down the spine, are symptoms of general womb derangement.

If these symptoms are not accompanied by leucorrhoea, they are precursors of that weakness.

It is worse than folly to neglect these symptoms. Any woman of common sense will take steps to cure herself.

She will realize that her generative system is in need of help, and that a good restorative medicine is a positive necessity. It must be a medicine with specific virtues. As a friend, a woman friend, let me advise the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If your case has progressed so that a troublesome discharge is already established, do not delay, take the Vegetable Compound at once, so as to tone up your whole nervous system; you can get it at any reliable drug store. You ought also to use a local application, or else the corrosive discharge will set up an inflammation and hardening of the parts. Mrs. Pinkham's Sanative Wash is put up in packets at 25 cents each. To relieve this painful condition this Sanative Wash is worth its weight in gold.

Mrs. GEORGE W. SHEPARD, Watervliet, N. Y., says: "I am glad to state that I am cured from the worst form of female weakness. I was troubled very much with leucorrhoea, bearing-down pains and backache. Before using Mrs. Pinkham's Remedies it seemed that I had no strength at all. I was in pain all over. I began to feel better after taking the first dose of Vegetable Compound. I have used five bottles, and I feel like a new woman. I know if other suffering women would only try it, it would help them."

DESPAIR RULES AT ATHENS

No Hope of Saving Crops in Thessaly Makes Greeks Lose Heart.

Athens, June 1.—The virtual abandonment of the hope of saving the crops in Thessaly, added to the fear that the powers will not agree to compel Turkey to evacuate the province until a war indemnity shall have been paid by Greece, causes dejection, almost despair.

Those who have not abandoned hope persist in building upon the friendship of Great Britain and find comfort in the report that Contractor Kolla has been ordered to prepare to provision forty British warships at Phalerum, the belief being that such a display of naval force is intended as a menace to Turkey.

In the meantime Ottoman reinforcements continue to pour into Macedonia and Thessaly, while the Turkish movements at Lamia, where the Greek army now is, are regarded as highly suspicious.

The Turks, finding the difficulties of the commissariat insurmountable, have abandoned their positions in the Othrys mountains and will withdraw to the interior of Thessaly.

Relief for Flood Sufferers.

Austin, Tex., June 1.—Gov. Culbertson sent a message to the legislature Monday calling the attention of that body to the distressed condition of the flood sufferers at El Paso, and asked the legislature to appropriate money to give them assistance. He said the citizens' committee of El Paso only asked for $5,000, and a bill was promptly introduced appropriating that amount. It was passed by both houses.

Gimm Beats Schinnerer.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 1.—Gimm beat Schinnerer in the twenty-four hour race, both men being exhausted before the time for the finish. Schinnerer made the first century and a new record in 4 hours, 5 minutes and 25 1/2 seconds. The score stood Gimm 446 and Schinnerer 439 miles, neither equal to their previous best efforts.

Is like good painting—it demands and obtains a second glance. The second glance leads to thought about and knowledge of the thing portrayed, and then on to the artist or advertiser.
